This morning, I went to Kinko's on Burnet Road in Austin, Texas to get the oversized document (photo montage) of the LSTC class of 1969 scanned. I was assisted by a fine, young fellow in his mid-20s who said he was a student at Austin Community College. When I handed him the document, he studied it carefully for well over a minute, then turned to me and said, "Looks like a bunch of trouble-makers to me."

I responded, "You don't know the half of it."
